wealth Ave., Boston

BOSTON, June 28.—Harry Wasserman was killed and six other men were injured when an automobile in which they were riding turned turtle on Commonwealth avenue early today. W. B. Smith, the chauffeur, who was the most seriously hurt, was removed to a hospital. His companions were treated by a physician at the Brighton police station. The accident, which occurred while the young men were returning home from Norumbega park, was caused by the breaking of the front axle of the machine. Wasserman was 22 years old and a resident of Boston. He was killed instantly.

SEARCH RIVER FOR BOY'S BODY

Andrew Gordon of Lawrence St.
Was Drowned in Merrimack
River Yesterday

It is believed that Andrew Gordon, aged 15 years, son of Mrs. Ellen Gordon of 714 Lawrence street, met his death by drowning in the Merrimack river back of the car barns in Middlesex street, late yesterday afternoon. Undertaker Higgins Brothers have eight men dragging the river today in an endeavor to find the body, but at the time of going to press it had not been recovered.

The boy, who was employed by the Helme Electric company, left his home about 1 o'clock, stating that there was no work for him that afternoon, but did not say where he was going. His mother did not think anything of his absence as she supposed that he was away with other boys. Last night, however, when shown the clothes found on the banks of the river Mrs. Gordon identified them as those of her son.

Two canoeists who were enjoying a paddle on the Merrimack, while passing the spot where the accident is believed to have occurred, noticed the clothing on the shore, but believing that someone was in the vicinity paid no special attention to them at that time.

On their return down the river some time later on seeing the clothes still on the bank and no one in sight they investigated and finding a card bearing the name of Andrew Gordon, 714 Lawrence street, rushed to a telephone and notified the police. The latter took the clothes to the address given on the card and Mrs. Ellen Gordon identified them as belonging to her son, Andrew. The spot where the clothes were found was watched until the evening, but no one returned for them.

On making inquiries in the vicinity of the place it was learned that several boys were in swimming about 8 o'clock in the afternoon and were making their way from one side of the river to the other. The Gordon boy was an excellent swimmer and it is believed that while enjoying his swim, he was stricken with cramps and nobody was near enough to aid him and he drowned.

REV. FR. BRADLEY DEAD

Brilliant Young Priest
Passed Away Today

Rev. James Joseph Bradley of this city who was ordained to the priesthood at St. John's seminary, Brighton, on May 17th, died this morning at his home, 50 Twelfth street. Fr. Bradley was born Oct. 16, 1885. He attended St. Michael's parochial school, Centralville, and after graduating entered St. Anselm's college, Manchester, N. H. He graduated from St. Anselm's college in June, 1906, and entered Holy Cross college, Worcester, graduating from there in June, 1908. He then went to the North American college, Rome, to study for the priesthood. Because of ill health, he was compelled to leave the American college after one year, but after some time spent at home he felt well enough to resume his studies and consequently entered St. John's seminary, Brighton, where he was ordained May 17th.

Throughout his entire college career the deceased young priest was characterized by great intellectual power. He headed his classes in St. Anselm's, Holy Cross, Rome and Brighton, and he was the winner of several gold medals and scholarships. His keenness of intellect and superior attainments, however, were equalled by high moral qualities and he leaves a circle of friends who will always cherish his memory as one of the loftiest, kindest and noblest influences they have ever known. Had he lived there is no doubt that he would have reached a high place in the church, but it was ordained otherwise, and he has been called from his labors while the consecrating oils were still fresh on his hands.

The deceased priest leaves a mother, Mrs. Rosanna Bradley, and a sister, Miss Annie Bradley, both of Centralville, and to these as to all his many relatives and friends the sympathy of the public will go out on the sorrow that has followed so quickly on the great joy of his ordination.

NOTED MURDERER
TO BE DEPORTEDMan Twice Sentenced for Murder in Greece Turned Over by the Local Police to Federal Officials

Demetrios Vires of Sparta, who was smuggled into this country, or else came as a stowaway, has been turned over to the officials of the immigration bureau of the federal government to be deported to Greece.

His case is one of the most remarkable on record and it is highly creditable to our police department that he had been captured here, although he had escaped the police detectives of other cities who were notified of his crimes.

Vires has actually been sentenced to the death penalty for two brutal murders in Greece. This man seems to be one of the worst desperadoes ever known in Greece. In one case, when he killed a fellow countryman he was not satisfied with administering the death blow, but further gratified his rage by carrying the body up so that identification was almost impossible.

But he escaped arrest and, being tried for the crime in his absence, according to the Greek custom, he was sentenced to death.

In another part of Greece still later, or another charge of murder was preferred against him and although he again escaped, he was tried and on evidence that seemed satisfactory to the court, was convicted and sentenced to death for the second time.

This, to be sure, is a most unusual case, but to make it more strange, after the man had been twice sentenced to death while still at large, he robbed a Greek priest, for which crime he was sentenced to 20 years penal servitude.

Evidently the Greek authorities are better at pronouncing sentence than at catching prisoners. But it remained for a Greek officer, Patrolman Regis, under the direction of Supt. Welch, to capture this desperado and rid the community of his presence.

While here he was sentenced to four months in jail for assault, but appealed and got off with a fine of $25. It is understood that he was about to be married when arrested. It is fortunate that he has been sent out of the city for he would probably have committed murder again had he remained here.

The Greek government has set a price on his body, dead or alive, and if any reward is coming, it will come to the Lowell officer who made the arrest.

It is now a question whether the Greek government will have him first serve the twenty years before inflicting the death penalty.

DEAD CAT IN HOLE

Apple Tree in Liberty Street and Neighbors Are Complaining That Apple Blossoms Are Not Fragrant

A cat became imprisoned in a hole in an apple tree in Liberty street and died there, which only goes to show that so far as streets are concerned there's absolutely nothing in a name.

The odor from the apple tree is not one of fragrant blossoms and the park commission has been requested to "make away" the cat. Supt. Kernan sent the "cat man" of the department to Liberty street this morning, but he failed to remove the cat. Now the superintendent is looking for the owner of the apple tree. The superintendent wants the owner's permission to cut down the tree.

THE CALL FIREMAN
STANDS IN THE WAYOf Change in Fire Alarm System
—Commissioner Barrett Calls
System Antiquated

The only obstacle in the way of the proposition to discontinue the antiquated fire alarm system in vogue in this city and the adoption of one of the various metropolitan systems, is the call fireman.

Commissioner Barrett, who has charge of the fire department, believes that the old fire bells should go. He says that the whole city ought not to be aroused at night by the clanging of the bells. He says they will have to be done away with sooner or later, and they are only necessary now because of the call firemen.

Mr. Barrett is, and says he always has been, in favor of dispensing with the call firemen. He believes that the entire fire fighting force should be a permanent force, but he is not willing to suggest that to the municipal council. He says that a majority of the call firemen are faithful men and good fire fighters, but he is willing to admit that a full permanent force would soon cost the city less than the call firemen system.

There are somewhere in the vicinity of 50 call firemen in Lowell and Mr. Barrett acknowledges that 12 permanent men could do the work of the 50 call men, who are paid $250 a year. Mr. Barrett, however, does not seem willing to take the initiative, and as long as there are call firemen, just so long will be the antiquated bell system remain.

Two Extra Firemen
Mr. Barrett, sometime in June appointed two call men to the permanent force and just for that he has been more or less criticized, the statement having been made that he did not comply with civil service requirements.

The two men appointed by Com. Barrett were George H. McDermott and Joseph Rogers and their appointment was a temporary one. There were a number of permanent firemen sick at the home and with vacations ahead. Mr. Barrett allowed it would be necessary to have at least two extra men. He took the matter up with the civil service commission, explaining the situation in detail, and the commission authorized him to make the temporary appointments.

The firemen who were laid off, either through sickness or injury, at the time the appointments were made, and some of them have returned to work, were:

Ed. Jennings, Lawrence street house, fractured leg.
Frank Simonds, West Sixth street house, injured leg. Mr. Simonds was recently removed from the Palmer street house to the West Sixth street house.
P. J. Connors, of Lincoln street, obtained leave of absence for a trip to his old home in Ireland.
Capt. Baxter, Lincoln street house, injured back.
William F. Tighe, Race street house, broken arm.
Forest Olcott, Westford street, broken arm.
William H. Oak, Branch street, sick with pneumonia.

Change in Box Numbers
Mr. Barrett says that the proposed change in fire box numbers will be made after July 1 and the work of changing the fire telephone numbers is now under way. The protective is expected back from Springfield in a few days. The big machine was sent to the shop for repairs and Mr. Barrett expects that it will be returned on Tuesday and will be installed again in the Warren street house.

Go to South America
Messrs. Bixby, Farley and Frost of the Saco-Lowell machine shops, left this city for Columbia, South America, last night, where they will be engaged for the next two years setting up machinery for the local shops. The men are employed as directors and as the Saco-Lowell shops are equipping a large cotton mill with machinery these three men were sent there to supervise the work, which will probably take about two years.

VETERANS FROM THE NORTH AND SOUTH
ARRIVING AT GETTYSBURG FOR CELEBRATION

GETTYSBURG, Pa., June 28.—Although there were several prostrations yesterday the extreme heat failed to dampen the ardor of the old soldiers here for the anniversary celebration next week. From shortly after sunrise until late at night the streets of Gettysburg were crowded with the veterans, north and south. Some of them paraded, cheering and singing in fraternal exuberance with former foes, while others gathered in groups and recounted the stirring times of 50 years ago. Those overcome by the heat were treated at the Emergency hospital of the state department of health and all are out of danger.

Veterans are arriving on every train. In spite of the heat yesterday, the maximum temperature being 93 degrees, many of them walked over the entire area of the battlefield and officials in charge said that the small number of prostrations demonstrated the physical fitness of the old soldiers.

A complete ambulance department of the United States army, with 15 horse ambulances and two automobile ambulances will carry the sick from the first aid stations to the hospitals. The provisional field hospital, besides wards and tent kitchens has a complete operating room and the arrangements include everything down to the shower bath.

Lieut. Simon Boliver Buckner, son of the ranking surviving officer of the confederate army who is assisting Major Normyle in command at the camp today, made public the number of old soldiers that each state expects to send to the reunion. Pennsylvania leads the list with 17,826; New York is second with 9,265; and New Jersey third with 1,980. Massachusetts will send 1,852; Virginia 1,827; North Carolina 1,200; West Virginia 510; Indiana 466; and Illinois 512. Other states range from Connecticut's 450 to 51 from Oregon and 35 from Idaho.

Pennsylvania and New York will occupy the entire northern section of the camp on both sides of Long Lane. Federal veterans from other states will be camped between Seminary Lane and Long Lane while the wearers of the gray will occupy the site at Long Lane at the base of the monument to General Lee, now in process of erection at the point where Pickett's charge started.

TO DISSOLVE HARRIMAN MERGER

Atty. Gen. McReynolds and Attorneys for the Railroads Reached an Agreement

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Attorney General McReynolds and the attorneys for the railroads have reached an agreement for the dissolution of the Harriman merger. The principal of the plan is in harmony with the views of President Wilson and he is expected to approve it. It will be submitted Monday to the judges of the United States court for the eighth circuit at St. Paul.

The plan will go to the court with the government's approval, qualified only by a request that the judges give a limited time before entering a final decree dissolving the merger. It may possibly make objections which cannot now be foreseen.

Attorney General McReynolds does not expect to go to St. Paul but will send G. Carroll Todd, special assistant who has been assisting in the negotiations.

Attorney General McReynolds today said he was near ready to discuss the situation or details. It is understood, however, that the plan will provide for exchanging $25,000,000 of Southern Pacific stock held by Union Pacific for Pennsylvania's interest in Baltimore & Annapolis and the sale of the remaining stock and assets of Southern Pacific through the medium of a trust company under the supervision of the federal court.

Officials declared today that President Wilson and Attorney General McReynolds had been in perfect accord all along to reach an agreement for the dissolution of the merger. A plan could be evolved that would meet the demands of the Sherman law. It was declared that while there had never been any tendency to place obstacles in the way of an agreement the administration had insisted upon an "adequate" during which the government might possibly make objections which cannot now be foreseen.

STOLE CLOTH FROM LOCAL MILLS

Two Men Were Found Guilty and Ordered to Pay Fines—Other Cases Disposed of

Major Noyes and Officer Tsavalaris, defendant's attorney that the defendant was not the man who took the cloth but that it had been left there by the man who formerly occupied the room but who had left it before the first of the year. The evidence was so strongly against the defendant that it overbalanced Mr. McEvoy's eloquent appeal for his client. He was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $20.

In the second complaint charging him with receiving stolen property, Judge Enright did not consider the evidence against him of sufficient weight to justify him in imposing a sentence and ordered the man discharged.

Amie Fontaine was given a sentence of five months in jail for drunkenness. She has been given several chances for reformation by the local court but has not profited by them. Timothy McCarthy was given an opportunity to pay his fine of $15 by having the sentence suspended for one month. William J. Buckley, Thomas McLean and James J. Kennedy were all fined $6 for their second appearance for drunkenness.

Superior's case was disposed of first. He pleaded guilty to the charge. Major Noyes, the corporation's representative, asked that a sentence be imposed upon the defendant to serve as a lesson to others who were in a trustworthy position. Superior was fined $10.

John J. McEvoy, Esq., pleaded not guilty for his client when Karapanos' case was called for trial. The prosecution placed the two officers upon the stand and Superintendent Welch examined them at length. Designer Ernest Nelson of the Merrimack mills also testified to the cloth being of a pattern which had only been manufactured since January 2nd of this year. This refuted the claim made by the

DENIES LOVETT'S STORY

Lawyer Lanterbach at Lobby Inquiry

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Edward Lanterbach, a well known New York lawyer, was brought into the senate lobby inquiry by Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the executive committee of the Union Pacific railroad. Mr. Lovett claimed that efforts had been made to induce him to engage Mr. Lanterbach, who, it was represented, would "grease the wheels" in Washington so that the Union Pacific Southern Pacific dissolution plan would go through as the railroad men wanted it to. Mr. Lovett's story resulted in Mr. Lanterbach asking permission to tell his side before the committee. The lawyer denied that there was any attempt on his part to hold up the Union Pacific for a big fee for lobbying.

HORSEBACK RIDER THROWN

Accident in Merrimack Street Today—Young Man Had Narrow Escape From Injury

A young man whose name could not be learned had a very narrow escape from serious injury when he was thrown off a horse at the corner of Cabot and Merrimack streets this forenoon. He was coming down Merrimack street toward city hall, on horseback, and was driving very fast. Upon reaching the corner of Cabot street, he turned his horse into the latter street and the animal slipped on the smooth pavement and fell to the ground.

The boy was thrown several feet farther. Patrolman Elie Breaud, went to his assistance, but before he reached his side, the boy was on his feet again and quickly grabbed his horse by the head. The young man was none the worse for his fall, but the horse was badly scratched on the legs.

TABLETS TO MARK GREAT EVENTS

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Plans were completed for the unveiling, July 4, of two bronze tablets designed to mark spots upon which two historic events took place. The tablets will be placed in the general land office of the department of the interior. One of them is to mark the site of the first telegraph office in the United States while the other will mark the scene of the first theatrical performance given in the national capital. The first telegraph office was opened in the quarters now occupied by the land office by the inventor, Samuel F. B. Morse, April 1, 1845. The first theatrical production was given in 1800 on the same site.

ENFORCE TRAFFIC RULES HOME RULE FOR IRELAND

New Sign "Keep to Right" The Cabinet is All Right, at Merrimack Sq. Despite Rumors

A nice new red sign on a pretty little stand now adorns the center of Merrimack square as an aide de camp of the traffic policeman. The sign bears the inscription: "Keep to the right; go slow" and is meant to attract the notice of auto drivers and drivers of other vehicles. Considerable difficulty has been experienced by the members of the traffic squad at the square because of the fact that the drivers of the vehicles are not easily submissive to new conditions and have been accustomed to turning in whatever manner they pleased. The new regulations are a novelty. The pretty little sign and the attractive stand is placed in such a manner that the carriages and autos driving around it will keep on their respective sides of the road in turning the corners. At the square, the streets extending four ways make the traffic very lively and difficult to handle.

Similar signs of the same attention-demanding red are located at Tower's corner and also at the corner of Central and Merrimack streets. At the morning several motorists attempted to pass on the left of these and were duly ordered to back up and turn to the right by the blue coated custodian of the public safety, the same persons of authority being sure to be found not far from the little red signs. One driver at Tower's corner paused on the left of the sign to read its inscription. He was allowed to do so by the officer who as soon as the man had completed his perusal, gave him a practical demonstration of what the words signified.

The new signs will furnish interest to many for some time, for the novelty will not wear off at once. They have been openly admired by passersby.

Annual People's Regatta

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—Fifty-seven entries including 21 from other cities have been received for the annual People's regatta which will be rowed on the Schuylkill river on July 4. The entry list closed last night.

John Redmond yesterday quickly set at rest the published reports in some newspapers here that Sir Rufus Isaacs, the English attorney-general, had resigned, and that "scandal smashes the British cabinet."

In response to a cablegram sent him by National Secretary John O'Callaghan of the United Irish League of America, informing him of the publication, Mr. Redmond sent within a couple of hours the following response: "Story false. Ridiculous. Redmond."

"It is apparent," writes Mr. O'Callaghan, "that the present home rule government in England is not going to die altogether so easily as its opponents would desire."

B.P.O. ELKS AND K. OF C. LEADERS

In Library Contest, Class Two—St. Patrick's Church Leads in Class Three

Well! The P. B. O. Elks advance to the forefront this week in class two with a handsome vote of 59,263. It has taken earnest, persistent work no doubt to do this. Several meetings have a lot of votes, but in the ballot boxes which were not counted this week, but will appear in next Saturday's returns, we hope.

Tabulating today's vote was a big task. Just pause and consider the first publication, 7599 the second and 57,263 the third, and you have before you the work accomplished by the business working for the public good and the many competitors.

The Knights of Columbus are second in the race in class two with a splendid vote of 54,025. A little systematic work the coming week may bring them to the top.

There is a systematic canvass going on among the many competing organizations. St. Peter's and St. Michael's schools, and Sacred Heart church. Each of them feels that if they do not win the library it will not be because they failed to exhaust every fair means to do so. All the leaders are worthy rivals and in popular favor with a large constituency, and it is a case of "nip and tuck" in the voting.

The P. B. O. Elks, and the K. of C. leaders, which organizations this week occupy the fourth and sixth rungs of the contest ladder in class two. Pupils and friends of St. Patrick's school have certainly awakened to the great need of the contest, and have trebled their vote of last week and rest serenely in first position in class three with a fine total of 26,522 votes.

The Glenmore club forcefully demonstrated the fact that weight is a constant for library votes cannot be measured by numbers. Very often a little man with big spirit can master in physical and mental combat the big fellow without this essential virtue, and these workers are due to make their presence felt in the big contest because the spirit to do and do well prevails. There is a systematic canvass going on, and should they fail to win the first prize, it will not be because they did not exhaust every fair means to do so.

Pupils Should Form Committees

The schools that are out after the libraries should have committees to look after their interests, as have the many clubs and societies competing. This more can be accomplished with this plan in effect, and are not only reads this can take the matter in hand call his fellow pupils together and form a committee.

The Lowell High school, in the opinion of the writer, would very likely be up close to the leader today if the full reports from the stores, which are their strongholds, were in hand. They are showing improvement all along the line. The Ancient Order of Hibernians occupies a prominent place in class two this week. Their work is indeed commendable and is becoming more and more vital as each week goes by. These voters are alive to the great importance of the label redemption features and are accumulating them in a systematic fashion. The same may be said of the Highland grammar school. This is the right route to success and we look for these contestants to prove formidable advertisers in the battle for good books.

Remember that the Harvard Brewing Company's bottle caps will be redeemable only at one vote each and that the cork inside the cap must absolutely bear a clean and fresh appearance or it will not be redeemable at all.

Realizing as you should the value to you of today's piece of advice, why not cut out the directory of business men and keep it always at hand as a guide in order that you may be unflinching in your efforts at securing the greatest possible number of votes. Only a few weeks ago the writer was in the little city of Brockton, where a contest closed, and it is well known could see the perfect mountain of labels that have been turned in by various contestants here you would appreciate the full purpose and virtue in the discourses we have made upon this department of the contest. Read this article to your members assembled in order that your efforts may progress along intelligent and uniform lines.

EDUCATIONAL "TRUST"

Consolidation of Many Small Colleges

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Recommendation that an educational "trust" be launched through the consolidation of many of the smaller colleges and state institutions in the interests of efficiency is made by Dr. K. C. Babcock of the United States bureau of education. In a statement issued by the bureau today calling attention to Dr. Babcock's plan it is conceded that the chief inefficiency lies with the state colleges and educational institutions.

Dr. Babcock contends in the year book of the commissioner of education that there are too many colleges inefficiently equipped and that needless expense in duplication of work is occasioned everywhere. He believes the solution of the situation lies in the merging of many institutions, especially those now attempting to teach advanced or specializing courses.

Gunboat Smith Wins

NEW YORK, June 25.—Gunboat Smith of California last night defeated George Rodell, the South African Boer, in the third round of a scheduled 10 round bout at Madison Square Garden. After Rodell had been knocked down twice, Referee John stopped the bout.

REFUSED TO GIVE UP PERRY FLAG

Toledo Officials Would Not Deliver "Don't Give Up the Ship" Banner to Ensign Lowery

TOLEDO, O., June 27.—Officials of the Toledo Museum of Art today refused to deliver to Ensign Lowery sent from Annapolis, the Commodore Perry flag bearing the inscription, "Don't give up the ship."

Several weeks ago the secretary of the navy issued an order lending the flag to the city of Toledo for three months. It was to be the central figure in an art and historic display in connection with the Perry victory centennial to continue during the summer. The display will open tomorrow.

Ensign Lowery bore an order commanding the loan of the flag to Toledo and instructing him to proceed with it to Erie, Pa. and place it aboard the Perry flagship, Niagara, raised from the bottom of Mifery bay and which is to be conveyed this summer to lake cities which will celebrate the Perry victory.

ACCOUNTANTS ARE BUSY

Going Over All the City Accounts for 1912

Although the grand jury had adjourned to September it is stated that District Attorney Higgins will continue his investigation of municipal affairs here just as soon as his experts, now at work on the financial books of the city have finished their work.

These accountants representing the American Audit company, have been here over a week and while it was believed they would pay particular attention to the records of the street department it would seem that the accountants are equally anxious to cover all of the departments. They are examining every bill very closely and at the rate they are going at the present time it looks as if they would be here for some time.

Mayor O'Donnell's letter to the district attorney in which he charged Commissioner George H. Brown with having violated the charter by exceeding his appropriations as street commissioner in 1912 was responsible for the present investigation. Mr. Brown made counter charges in which he charged the mayor and other members of the council with making illegal transfers, and the district attorney's men are evidently just as much inter-

The best man was Mr. Joseph Schnell, while the bride was attended by Mrs. Charles Gleason. At the close of the ceremony the bridal party repaired to

TEACHERS NOT ELECTED

They Will Be Named at Next Meeting

The fact that Miss Alice T. Lee, supervisor of primary grades, was not re-elected at the meeting of the school board Thursday night was simply an oversight on the part of the committee. Miss Lee will be re-elected at the adjourned meeting of the committee to be held next Tuesday.

Other teachers who failed of reelection were Patrick J. Reynolds, master of the Riverside school; F. Joseph Cronquist, teacher of academic branches in the industrial school and Timothy H. Riordan, assistant in machine shop practice and blacksmithing.

PROSTRATIONS BY HEAT

10 Overcome in Boston— 5 Deaths in Chicago

BOSTON, June 28.—Notwithstanding the fact that the weather man stated that the weather in Boston was only humid, not hot, yesterday, 10 people were prostrated by the heat and thousands of others made exceedingly uncomfortable.

Late last night it was stated at weather headquarters that today would open with heat well into the 80's in all probability. The official forecast says "fair and not so warm, with moderate west to north winds." Sunday will be fair and cooler, according to the government weather experts.

The highest official point reached by the mercury in Boston yesterday was 89 1/2 degrees above zero. That was at 4:30 p. m. On June 15 the thermometer marked 91 degrees "above."

Out in St. Pierre, South Dakota, the temperature was 101, this being the hottest place in the United States. The coolest place was Eastport, Me., where they put on their fannels and looked at a glass that registered 64 above the mark.

LONDON, June 28.—Little Master Peter Scott, only son of Captain Robert Scott, the antarctic explorer who lost his life after reaching the South pole shortly after it was discovered by Amundsen, still does not know that his father is dead. But it is feared by Lady Scott that she cannot keep back the blow to the little child much longer. He keeps constantly asking, "Where's papa?" He is alone among those near and dear to the captain not to know of the explorer's tragic fate. Peter was born on Sept. 11, 1909, and was sent to his grandmother, Mrs. Hannah Scott, at Henley-on-Thames to stay while his mother was journeying to New Zealand with the object of meeting her husband on his return from the pole.

The champions double win yesterday puts them up in fourth place again with only a few games difference between them and second place. That Athletic club is a long ways off, however, and even if they pitching staff has gone bad it will take some sprinting to catch them. In the other race the Giants are now well within striking distance of the flag and are playing a much stronger game than Philadelphia.

Eddie Cawley has signed a contract with Connie Mack's Athletics and will probably join them next Thursday in Boston. Cawley graduated from high school this week and now is all ready to break into the professional baseball ranks.

Billy Mulvey has been offered a bout on the fourth with his old rival, Young Williams of Lawrence, but as he has refused to accept it on account of poor condition Tom Larrabee of Lewiston will probably meet the Lawrence boy at Spaulding park on this date. Tommy McFarland of Boston will also be by the Triangle A. A. at their opening entertainment.

If Lowell can show the brand of ball that they exhibited yesterday for the remainder of the season everybody will be happy. The same may be said of the pitching. Zeiser pitched a remarkably steady game as well as having everything that a pitcher can have. His twirling yesterday was as good as his league work.

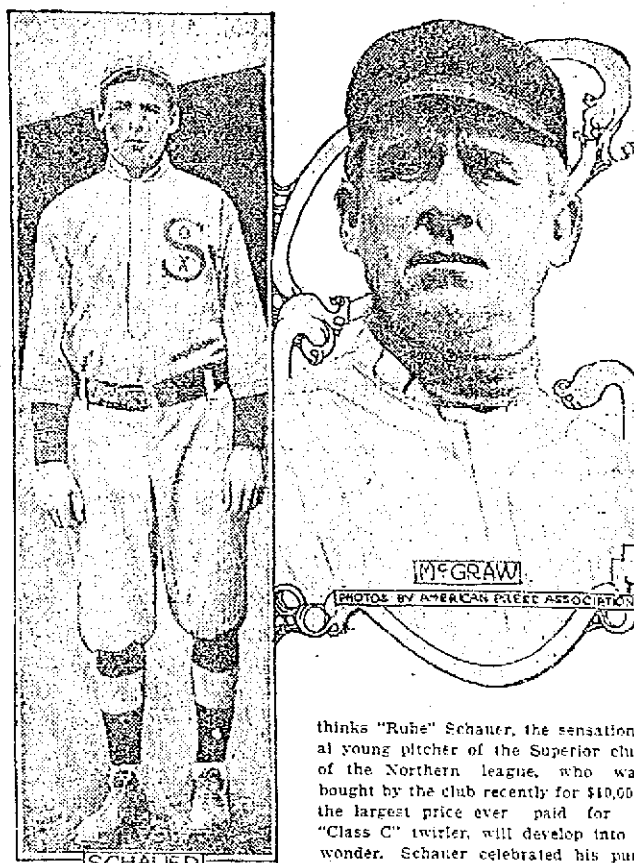

The New England All Around Championships which will be held late this afternoon on Tech field will bring out the greatest bunch of athletes who ever competed in the scheduled list of events. Tabor, Drew, Hedlund, Robinson and Halpin are names which are sure to draw out a large attendance at the games.

Gunboat Smith was again returned the winner over the Beer, Rodol, last night in their scheduled bout of ten rounds at the Madison Square gardens. Smith fanned Rodol in the third round with a right hand swing behind the ear and he lay face downward on the canvas. Referee John, thinking Rodol knocked cold, waved Smith to his corner without counting the fatal ten. Rodol, however, staggered to his feet, and violently protested the decision.

Here is how they do things in Paris when they do not agree with a referee's decision. Frank Mandole, an American, and Albert Badoud, a Swiss fighter, fought 20 hard rounds with the American having all the advantage. Mandole knocked his opponent down three times and had him hanging on in the last two rounds. The referee declared the bout a draw and the crowd immediately poured into the ring and pulled the decision maker over the ropes. He was pretty well mauled before the police were able to rescue him from the angry fans. Lawrence has one feature in common with Paris anyway.

Manager Birmingham of Cleveland has announced that he may retire the great Napoleon Lajoie as regular second baseman. Turner has been named as the man to succeed him. Lajoie has been one of the greatest men in baseball but his run is fast sinking. If the big Frenchman does not improve on his hitting within a short time the change is certain to go into effect.

MCGRAW WILLING TO SPEND $50,000
FOR PITCHERS—NEW PHENOM

thinks "Rube" Schauer, the sensational young pitcher of the Superior club of the Northern league, who was bought by the club recently for $10,000, the largest price ever paid for a "Class C" twirler, will develop into a wonder. Schauer celebrated his purchase in his home town the other day by winning a game from "Rube" Waddell, once one of the greatest pitchers in the game, now pitching for the Virginia (Min.) club. Schauer struck out ten men in seven innings, the game being called on account of darkness.

Johnny McGraw says he has $50,000 to spend for good pitchers. The Giants' peppy little leader declares that there is a scarcity of good slammers, but if there are any lying around loose he wants to grab them. McGraw

DIAMOND DAZZLES

Woodman had the Indian sign on Detroit all right. All that he threw him was a high inshoot, but Rube couldn't seem to connect with it. Three strikeouts in one game is some record.

Umpire White seemed to think it wasn't yesterday. With his sleeves rolled up and his arms sunburned to his elbows, he announced his decisions in good style. Once, however, he converted a poor ball into a strike for Woodman, but evened matters up on the next ball by calling it a strike.

In the fourth inning McGovern got up a great head of steam running to first after banging down a grounder to Aubrey. Fast fielding sent the ball to first a stride ahead of the red headed first baseman, however, but McGovern was going so fast that when he slid into the bag both he and Halstein toppled over. Luckily neither was hurt.

DeGroff may not be fast, but he has one big asset, in his base running. He spraddles a lot of territory. In the fourth inning yesterday when Rube stole second Weeden's throw struck him full in the back. The ball bounced 20 feet into the field.

Umpire White was minus his spiked shoes yesterday. This did not seem to stop him about covering the ground just the same as he was always over any play on the basis. His work on bases was perfect.

Daly certainly used his whip to good advantage. Courtney, Fall River's circle captain and right fielder, had an awful amount of nerve to try and steal a base on the Lowell catcher in the ninth. The ball was waiting for him when he arrived and Miller went to the ground with him to make the put-out certain.

Cahill is a tough man for a pitcher to throw to. He can hit a ball as a rule and knocks off a bunch of foul balls. In the sixth he fouled nine times before he eventually struck out.

Dan Clochey was right at the park, whether he can be with his men or not. Dan occupied the box directly over the Fall River bench and showered all sorts of advice on his players throughout the contest. Dan's expression was not exactly amiable on several occasions.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Savages say that they will take up the challenge issued by the Unions and will play for a purse of $5 and two 25c balls. Moreover, if the Unions refuse, the Savages claim the championship of the state. Get that? These Savages say that they will bring their own "empire" who is none other than B. Cohen. Just the same, we would hope to be in Mr. Cohen's shoes when he is officiating at this clash. Frank Abbot notifies that his wing is in great shape and that he is sure of winning. In spite of his innate modesty, he cannot fool the public into believing that he is not "some" pitcher.

Willers, Savages, and a few others want to know if the Riverside Grays and their new suits have fled to shelter, or if they are afraid of soiling those circus clothes.

Have all the amateurs who wish get their names in the paper? We still have room for the amateur baseball.

STOVALL'S DAYS AS MANAGER OF
BROWNS SAID TO BE NUMBERED

An interesting rumor here is that George Stovall's days as the manager of the St. Louis Browns are numbered. The first sweep in the Browns' housecleaning campaign is said to have taken place when Lloyd Rickart was let out as the club's secretary recently. Rickart was connected with the Browns for several years. Stovall has not made the hit as manager at St. Louis that he did at Cleveland. George's suspension as manager by orders of Ban Johnson for his trouble with Umpire Ferguson early in the season and the fact that his team has lost steadily this year and appears to be getting further in the rut has caused the manager to lose in popularity. It would be no surprise in St. Louis if Stovall should be released as the Browns' manager. This has been a very bad year for baseball in St. Louis. Many of the local clubs have had long losing streaks. Friends of Stovall claim he has not been a failure as a leader and that if he is retained as leader next year he will surely have a first division club. They also add that Stovall is the best leader the Browns have ever had.

MATRIMONIAL

DAVILIN-MAGUIRE

Miss Minnie Maguire and Mr. John Davilin, two popular members of the Sacred Heart parish, were united in marriage last Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock by Rev. James McDermott, M. I. The bride was attractively attired in white veil over white silk and wore a large picture hat. She carried white sweet peas. The bridesmaid, Miss Doris Handley, cousin of the bride, looked charming in pale blue chiffon over blue silk. She carried pink sweet peas. The best man was Mr. Frank Maguire, brother of the bride. After the ceremony a delightful reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, 23 Newhall street, in the presence of four priests of the Sacred Heart parish: Fr. Smith, Fr. McDermott, Fr. Flynn and Fr. Wood—who called to offer their congratulations to the young couple, added to the pleasure of the occasion. Guests were present from Boston, North Attleboro, North Adams, Billerica and Uxma, N. Y. At the depot the young couple were serenaded by a quartet consisting of Martin and Frank Maguire, brothers of the bride, and Frank Golden and John Gleason. They departed, amidst a shower of rice and confetti, for Boston and New York. On their return they will reside at 13 Newhall street.

MULHALL-HARTLEY
Mr. Walter S. Mulhall and Miss Mary J. Hartley, the latter of Wellesley, were united in marriage Wednesday, the ceremony being performed at 404 Stevens street by Rev. W. Henry McLean. After a wedding trip the happy couple will make their home at 404 Stevens street.

POND-SULLIVAN
Mr. Charles Frederick Pond and Miss Lela Viola Sullivan were united in marriage on Wednesday evening, June 26, at the home of the bride's parents, 26 Lane street. Rev. Alex Reed Dills was the officiating clergyman.

RAILROAD ACCIDENTS

In no country in the world is the annual toll of deaths from railroad accidents greater than in America. Each day has its stories of train wrecks which result in fatalities. We read these laconically regarding them as the natural outcome of our rushing industrialism and inseparable from it. Sometimes, however, the fact that these accidents are more numerous than usual on one railroad or in one particular section of the country makes people take particular notice of conditions and urges them to investigate the reason for the increasing number of fatal accidents. Though these accidents are not all attributable to the same cause or series of causes, it is evident that something is wrong in the American system of railroading, when we recollect that this country, which has the greatest comparative percentage of deaths, has the greatest facilities for the manufacture of all that is most modern and satisfactory in rails and rolling stock, and systems of graduated service in most instances which ought to ensure the best and safest in labor.

In this connection it is interesting to review an article by a noted French scientist, published recently in a Parisian review—La Nature—in which he dwells on a new process of casting steel ingots and accuses American steel-makers of criminal carelessness, laying the responsibility for most of our railroad accidents at their door. In his own words: "It is a common occurrence for a piece of steel of a fine appearance, after having passed through all the classic tests, to break suddenly in normal service. An autopsy is held; then only is the fault discovered; hidden in the depths of the metal it has escaped all exterior investigation. No matter what it is called, most often chance alone may with justice be held responsible for its presence. The piece has been made according to all the rules; thousands of others formed in the same conditions and subjected to the same tests have behaved irreproachably." He claims that the new method of steel casting will eliminate the dangers of accidents from faulty rails, and reduce the annual number of railway accidents to a minimum.

The faults in the steel rails which have resulted in most of our railroad accidents are due to imperfections in the cooling of the rails—according to this authority. The perfected method which would do away with the danger was described by Sir Robert Hadfield, an English metallurgist at the last congress of the "Iron and Steel Institute." It consists in heating the metal from above during the cooling of the ingot. By the old method cooling began on all sides of the mould with the result that impurities collected in the centre. Gases generated in the process often collected there also and empty spaces were formed which rendered the rail unsafe. Recognizing this scientific fact, it has always been customary to saw off the upper portion of the ingot before subjecting it to the final processes of manufacture. Owing to the great demand for the output, however, the French scientist claims that this precaution has now been disregarded almost entirely, with the result that railroad accidents have increased to an alarming degree.

In dealing with our "unenviable record for railway accidents," the writer lays the blame on the railroads and the American steel works in the following strong words:

"Investigations have proved that the fault lies with the very defective rails in use on the other side of the Atlantic. These rails are made with impure ore by the Bessemer process, which eliminates impurities only partially, whereas in Europe the Siemens-Martin process has long been preferred. This, however, is not the primary cause of rail-breakage. In recent years the American steel works, overloaded with emergency orders, have thought proper, with the consent of the railroad companies, to depart from the severe rules that in the Old World, countries regulate the work of limited products. They have stopped rejecting the whole upper third of the ingots and have only cut away a much smaller portion. Hundreds of travelers have paid for this wild economy with their lives."

CASE NOT CLOSED

There have been statements from all the principals in the widely discussed Dixon-Cannetti case, but it is very evident that it is not yet regarded as a dead incident. Apart from the vigorous attack which Republican Leader Mann made in the house, in which he did not spare President Wilson or Attorney-General McReynolds, the press is still full of contrary opinions on the subject, and elements have crept in which have no direct bearing on the case. The general opinion is that the administration has been confronted by a very delicate situation which was prevented from becoming most serious only by the prompt action of the president. That he is not, however, regarded as entirely blameless is evident, though a dispassionate study of the facts will fail to reveal in what he was blameworthy. He had no direct connection with the controversy; he accepted the resignation of a man who, though possibly right, could not act further on the case in his official capacity, owing to his open declaration: "He ordered the prompt trial of the white slave charges. He did all that anyone could do, who had to accept the facts on the face of the matter and was constrained to act without bias or prejudice.

It must also be said in justice to the attorney-general that if he erred in judgment he erred in a negative rather than a positive sense. Even the violent accusations of Leader Mann do not convict him. Secretary Wilson telephoned him to order a certain case postponed because the father of one of the principals was unable to be present. Without going deeply into the matter he so ordered the postponement. There is nothing seriously wrong in this. But when it is discovered that the offense was a particularly flagrant one under the Mann white slave act, and when it was further discovered that the postponement was an official of the government, the confused situation took on aspects which were very welcome to those who wish to discredit the administration and who up to the present time have had nothing tangible on which to base charges. Except from a prejudiced point of view there is little in the case which justifies a very strong accusation against either the president or the attorney-general, and no one can say justly that there has been any attempt at Washington to cover up the official acts of any individual in connection with the matter. There is no doubt that public sympathy is with McNab, but his resignation under the circumstances was necessary. Having taken an open stand against the attorney-general he could not have upheld the federal end of the case. He could have been retained only by the displacement of the attorney-general, and the most violent enemy of the latter will not affirm that the charge calls for the adoption of the latter course.

The older Cannetti has great reason to regret his demand for postponement because it is evident that whatever leniency would have been shown by the public before the present misunderstanding, the people will now watch the proceedings closely and demand the fullest infliction of the law. The brunt of the blame may be laid on the father in the last analysis, but when there is a struggle in the weak human heart between duty and affection, it is easy to pardon a slight weakness. Not all the world has praised the action of Judge Lynch of Galway, who hanged his son in the olden days rather than sacrifice his patriotic principles.

THE GRADUATES

The local high school has graduated 24 pupils. Some of them will begin the active struggle of existence and others will go still higher in education. But even those who are fortunate enough to enter college realize at last that school work is not an end in itself and that the real purposes of existence are to follow. Life and time are theirs. They graduate, indeed, but their work is only commencing. All men graduate and for every one of them who steps into the arena of life, somebody steps out into the darkness to make room. The earth belongs to the young, and theirs are the tasks which will speak for progression in all the arts and sciences and the ideal conditions towards which the wobbling old world is speeding in its uncertain way.

"The child is father of the man," was once held to be true in its figurative sense, but it is now being held as almost true in its literal sense. Oscar Wilde created a sensation by declaring that nothing hindered progression more than the old theory that the young should learn from the old. He said that the old should learn from the young. We see the invention of the automobile or the airplane and we wonder, scarcely believing, the evidence of our senses, but the children who will be born tomorrow will accept these things as accomplished facts and seek for still greater marvels. The graduate is king today and by all means let us raise our hats to him and cheer him on while he is yet filled with the enthusiasm born of youth and the ignorance of the cruel old world with its crosses, its ruined castles and its ruined hopes. We will, however, remind the Lowell graduates of the words of Dr. Murfin and the local superintendent of schools when they requested them to remember always that their training was not meant to make them succeed in the social world or the world of business merely, but was meant to make them noble men and women. May they achieve this worthy end.

That all the dear old lady could remember of the class meeting when she got home was "Come, Pido."

That the Venus de Milo would be quite in style now if she had a slushed skirt.

That when the golf ball goes to the edge of the hole and hangs there, the distinguished golfer, President Wilson, should say "Hang it!" instead of "tut, tut!"

That if the Bay State street railway is allowed to clip five feet from Varnum park not enough of the park will remain to entice the rats from the river that burrow in its team.

That the tenants of the new Sun building and their offices delightfully cool these hot days.

That the idea of being able to hire a stenographer and a typewriter in one place is an innovation for Lowell.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Vaccination
Brooklyn Enterprise: An interesting contribution to the arguments which ever prevail as to whether vaccination is or is not useful is furnished in the smallpox situation at Lowell. It is said in that city that the new numerous list of the afflicted in Lowell are people who have been without the protection of vaccine. Of course it may have merely happened that way, and the course it is not a certain argument that vaccination is sure to prevent disease from getting a foothold, still the average man, as he contemplates this statement, made on the authority of a Lowell newspaper, that undoubtedly gets its information from the health authorities, would probably prefer to be vaccinated than not if he got word that the disease was on its way and likely to hit his section of the world.

Golf Down

Boston Traveler: On May 22, according to figures furnished by the Boston election department, the number of enrolled members of the progressive party in this city was 331. On June 21, less than a month later, when the lists closed, the number of those who enrolled for the state primaries, the number of enrolled progressives in Boston was 755.

A Winter Resort

Woonsocket Call: Congress is reported weary and "irritated" over the necessity of legislating in hot weather. But it was elected to serve the people, and merely authorized to use Washington as a winter resort.

Something New

Worcester Post: It is something quite new since the days of imperialism that Secretary Garrison has telegraphed to Gen. Pershing, asking for a fuller account of both the causes and the results of the recent bloody fighting in the Philippine Moros. The prevailing notion has been that the less the American people know about these things, the better.

Sundry Civil Bill

Boston Post: In judging the moral quality of the president's action, some consideration must be given the question of the public interest. Was it better for the nation to have the sundry civil bill with its "rider" signed or not? Each citizen who takes the trouble to estimate Mr. Wilson's ethics must decide that for himself.

Arbitration

Lynn News: The Boston Globe well points out that Col. Roosevelt arbitrated in the courts a question of personal honor, involving charges of drunkenness. And the question is put, why if this can be done questions concerning national honor cannot also be arbitrated?

No Charge

Foster's Democrat: Senator Robert Owen of Oklahoma, chairman of the senate's banking and currency committee, after a consultation with leading bankers in New York, declared there would be no changes in the currency bill. It is a material respect before its introduction into congress.

Hot Weather Don'ts

Burlington Free Press: Hot weather don'ts issued by Doctor Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of the United States bureau of chemistry, are worth repeating. They are: "Don't eat to excess. Don't wear too many clothes. Don't drink ice-cold beverages. Don't look at the thermometer and keep thinking how hot it is." He

An Impudent Appeal
Salem News: Pardon is asked for a forger, sentenced to prison in this state for from three to five years, on the ground that restitution has been made and that persons wronged had signed the pardon appeal. In our opinion, this comes preciously near being an impudent appeal.

OIL EXPLOSION ON VESSEL

Five Blown to Atoms—
Others Missing

NEW YORK, June 28.—Two hundred tons of fuel oil, on board the steel tank steamer Mohawk, owned by the Standard Oil company, exploded with a terrific roar and a burst of flame yesterday afternoon while the vessel was at anchor off Tompkinsville, Staten Island, in New York bay, killing five persons and injuring six others.

A dozen more are unaccounted for, but are believed to have escaped on a craft that came to the Mohawk's aid or by swimming ashore.

Two bodies were seen floating in the hold while fireboats were still pouring streams of water into the wrecked after-end of the steamer late last night.

Regardless of the cause, the explosion, which occurred at 10:30 p. m., killed five men, who were making repairs preparatory to the Mohawk's departure for Tuxpan, Mexico, this morning, were on board.

Perhaps a dozen of them were in the hold and fire hoses. A helper was declared to have dropped a flasher into the hold below the fire room. Seeking to recover it, he is believed to have carried a lighted candle, which caused combustion among generated gases in the hold.

EXPERIENCE OF MOTHERHOOD

Advice to Expectant Mothers

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

All our testimonials are guaranteed genuine and truthful. The original of each certificate unsolicited. They are sincere expressions of gratitude for actual benefits received from the medicine.

Repeal of "Neutrality Resolution"
WASHINGTON, June 28.—A change in the attitude of the United States toward the warring factions in Mexico was urged in the senate yesterday with the result that the foreign relations committee of that body is to take up the question immediately.

Senator Fall of New Mexico attacked the present policy and asked for the repeal of the so-called "neutrality resolution" of the last congress. Under this authority he said, arms were permitted to go across the border to the Huerta forces, but were prevented by the armed forces of the United States from going to the factions opposed to Huerta.

It is further suggested in this proposal that provisional President Huerta immediately name a presidential candidate and a minister of foreign affairs and then resign office, after which the choice of the convention would succeed constitutionally to the provisional presidency.

Leonardo Martinez intends to endeavor to submit the case of Huerta, but it is anticipated that he is in a position to know the situation that the provisional president will ignore the proposals.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

Founder of the Roxbury Piano Storage Salesrooms. This man who has done more to keep down piano prices than any other dealer in Boston. The Largest Distributor of Pianos in America.

HIS GREAT PIANO SALES

A Piano Sale here is always a sacrifice, always a bargain sale, always a mark-down sale. The very nature of business, as the public knows, is one of sacrifice. The business here is not conducted like the business of a regular Piano store down town, where they are expected to make a profit on each piano—where they get their profit DIRECTLY out of the sale of pianos. We don't let any piano land around on the floor of the Roxbury Storage Salesrooms—it comes in DIRT cheap. Sacrifice tag is clapped on it, be it high grade, low grade or middle grade, and it is sold to the first man or woman who wants it for the price marked on the tag—not a cent more or less. The selling price is, and is figured to let the accounts out clean and clear without regard to profit—so you can see easily by this statement how these sales must necessarily be sacrifices. Someone's loss is your gain.

The gilded piano stores, with their costly appointments, their high salaried sales agents, their sellers' commissions, etc., are no places for the economical piano buyer to go to. Take the trouble to look around a little, go up where the rents are not high and buy your piano right.

Government Refuses to Pay
WASHINGTON, June 28.—Dr. Chas. Richardson, a first Lieutenant in the medical reserve corps, was pressed in to active service May 31 because of a military emergency, but the federal government today refused to pay for his services simply because they were performed on the 31st of May. Assistant Comptroller of the Treasury Warwick decided that in all cases where compensation is rated on a monthly basis each month, February included, is presumed to have thirty days and under the law the government does not pay for the 31st day.

HOME OF MARIST ORDER

To be Enlarged and Improved

The Marist Brothers, who occupy the old Lyons residence at the corner of Moody and Pawtucket streets, are planning extensive changes to the building. To start with a new steam heating system will be installed and later it is probable the building will be enlarged.

There are 18 Marist Brothers teaching at St. Joseph's college in Merrimack street and for the past three or four years they have been occupying the fine structure at the corner of Pawtucket and Moody streets. The place is now inadequate to meet the demands of these brothers and consequently the director, Rev. Rev. Bernard, S. M., is having plans drawn to enlarge the edifice.

The plans call for two additions in the rear, which will enlarge the dormitories and living rooms, and make more room for the kitchen. A system of ventilation is also being planned, and these changes will be made as soon as possible. It is approved by the Oblate Fathers, who are in charge of the parish. The approximate cost of the proposed changes will be between $40,000 and $50,000.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

"The Value of a Circumscribed Life," will be the topic of a sermon tomorrow morning at the Congregational church by Rev. Franklin H. Reeves. This afternoon, the members of the Sunday school class of Miss Ethel Watson enjoyed an outing at Canobie Lake park, leaving on the 1 o'clock electric. The Silsbee mills closed down on Thursday until Monday morning. On Thursday evening, the mills will shut down for a period of ten days, after which it is hoped conditions will be such as to enable them to reopen on regular time, and to recall the wool sorters to work.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE

Class to Honor Teacher on His Departure For Europe—Brothers to Attend Summer School

The last class of graduates at St. Joseph's college will meet tomorrow afternoon at the Marist Brothers' home in Moody street, and will present their former teacher, Rev. R. Desires, S. M., a gift, on the occasion of his departure for Europe. The boys will gather at the above place at 10 o'clock tomorrow forenoon and will present their former teacher a five dollar gold piece, as a little souvenir from his former pupils. The mother will sell on July 3 for Firmly, France, where he will be the guest of his parents, whom he has not seen for years, and later he will go to Italy, where he will attend the Marist Brothers' convention, which will last six months.

The following brothers from the same college in this city will leave Monday for Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where they will attend the summer school: Rev. Desires, S. M.; Bro. Cayrien, S. M.; and Bro. Stevens. With them will be brothers from Manchester, N. H., Lawrence and Haverhill, and the party will board a train in Lowell.

CADILLAC'S FINE RUN

W. C. Perham Goes from Chelmsford to Montreal

To negotiate the distance between Chelmsford, Mass., and Montreal, Can., within 15 hours is a stunt that few local motorists would think of attempting alone; but that is just what Walter C. Perham, local agent for Cadillac, did quite recently. The most important part of the journey and which will interest the enthusiasts more than anything else is the fact that not a part of the car's mechanism was touched during the long journey, so well did the car act under the most trying conditions that it surprised Mr. Perham. Before starting on the trip Mr. Perham placed the car at the local service station for the Cadillac, the Sawyer Carriage Co., in Worthen street, and had the mechanics in the employ of this company inspect every part of the car, and he believes and says that the remarkable performance of the car was due not in a small measure to the thoroughness of the inspection by Sawyer's mechanics.

The start was made from Mr. Perham's home at 1 o'clock in the morning of the 13th of the present month, and Montreal was reached at 7:30 on the evening of the same day. He was accompanied by Mrs. Perham, Master Sydney Perham and a friend. The run was made by way of Rutland, Burlington and Rouse's Point. Mr. Perham says the roads are good between Lowell and Rouse's Point, but that between that point and Montreal they are of the kind you read about but seldom experience. The road holds are of the clay common to the country, which in the spring and wet season become gullied out and after dry weather sets in, great, deep ruts are left in the road, which are allowed to remain. A two-wheeled rig is the common mode of conveyance. In that part of Canada, and these vehicles travel the roads with comparative safety.

The distance registered by Mr. Perham's machine when he reached Montreal was 320 miles. Considerable mileage would have been saved by going by way of Newport, but the roads are probably better on the route covered by Mr. Perham and party.

The following day, Saturday, Mr. Perham spent motoring about Montreal and suburbs, with a guide, who pointed out the interesting points of the city. Sunday morning the start was made from the Canadian metropolis via Messhead lake for Bar Harbor, and thence home along the Maine coast and up the Merrimack valley.

Twelve hundred miles were covered in the entire trip, and no motor troubles of any kind interfered with the pleasure of the party. There were but two punctures during the entire trip of 1200 miles.

Arthur D. Reed of Chelmsford Centre and William D. Miller received their fees this week through the local agent, Geo. F. White of Branch street. Mr. White reports several prospects and says that the sales that he will effect before the closing of his contract will exceed what his contract calls for. Mr. White is doing an excellent business at his new stand and the larger floor space accommodates a number of transients.

Another well stocked automobile supply shop has been opened at 55 Bridge street under the name of the Boston Auto Supply Co. The stock comprises everything that is made for the autoist and his car.

NEW YORK, June 28.—George von L. Meyer, former secretary of the navy and chairman of the sub-committee of the stockholders' protective committee of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, came to New York yesterday with the other members of the sub-committee and had a conference with a sub-committee of the board of directors of the railroad.

After the conference, which lasted for about an hour, Mr. Meyer said that the demands of the sub-committee that they be allowed to examine all the interior workings of the railroad had been agreed to by the directors. Mr. Meyer will report back to the committee which he represents Monday morning at 10 o'clock in Boston, and at that time ways and means of obtaining information with a possible view to fighting for changes will be formulated.

Merrimack Square Theatre

Variety as well as quality is a feature that characterizes the offering at the Merrimack Square theatre, and the company at the theatre for the next week are to be no exception. The bill is headed by Lowell's favorite comedian, Donald Meek, who with two others will be seen in a bright comedy in one act, called "Who's Who." It is some time since Mr. Meek has appeared here, but those who remember him in the "palm" days of the Huntington-Bedden Stock Company and later with his own stock company, will no doubt be on hand to give this popular young favorite a warm welcome. He and the other members of the sketch are just closing a successful 15 weeks' engagement at the Castle Square theatre and come direct in the offering in which they will later play some of the larger vaudeville theatres.

The piece itself is a comedy playlet built for laughing purposes only and that it will be well given goes without saying. The stage decorations will also be carefully looked after and should make one of the most pleasing bits of entertainment offered at this popular theatre for some time. There are also other contributors to next week's bill worthy of special mention. Billy Ray, one of the cleverest of musicians, will appear, and Lillian Shuany in a brace of the latest illustrated songs, and Evans & Bradley have also been engaged while for the photo-play some of the best to be had will be shown.

Usual Sunday concerts to be given tomorrow at which some good vaudeville and a new series of pictures are to be given.

ONE KILLED WHEN AUTO TURNED TURTLE

Six Others Injured When Machine Was Wrecked on Common- wealth Ave., Boston

BOSTON, June 28.—Harry Wasserman was killed and six other men were injured when an automobile in which they were riding turned turtle on Commonwealth avenue early today. W. B. Smith, the chauffeur, who was the most seriously hurt, was removed to a hospital. His companions were treated by a physician at the Brighton police station. The accident, which occurred while the young men were returning home from Norumbega park, was caused by the breaking of the front axle of the machine. Wasserman was 22 years old and a resident of Boston. He was killed instantly.

SEARCH RIVER FOR BOY'S BODY

Andrew Gordon of Lawrence St. Was Drowned in Merrimack River Yesterday

It is believed that Andrew Gordon, aged 15 years, son of Mrs. Ellen Gordon of 716 Lawrence street, met his death by drowning in the Merrimack river back of the car barns in Middlesex street, late yesterday afternoon. Undertaker Higgins Brothers have eight men dragging the river today in an endeavor to find the body, but at the time of going to press it had not been recovered. The boy, who was employed by the Helme Electric company, left his home about 1 o'clock, stating that there was no work for him that afternoon, but did not say where he was going. His mother did not think anything of his absence as she supposed that he was away with other boys. Last night, however, when shown the clothes found on the banks of the river, Mrs. Gordon identified them as those of her son. Two caretakers who were enjoying a picnic on the Merrimack, while passing the spot where the accident is believed to have occurred, noticed the

HOTTEST FOR 12 YEARS

Lowell Suffered From Heat Yesterday

Yesterday was the hottest June 27th for twelve years. Lowell suffered and sweltered from sunrise until midnight. The temperature reached its highest point during the afternoon when it stood at 87 and toward midnight the heat was oppressive. But it was not as hot yesterday as it was today. At three o'clock this afternoon the glass at the office of the Locks & Canals registered 89½, while the highest mark reached yesterday was 87. The humidity, however, was not nearly as great today as yesterday and while a good fresh breeze has been blowing since early morning, there was barely wind enough yesterday to stir the leaves on the trees. The beaches and the parks were crowded with men, women and children yesterday and today. A great many Lowell people went to Revue and other beaches early this morning and the parks and commons are being well patronized. The heat wave, following the two previous days of cool weather, was responsible for a number of prostrations. Manhattan orch. Casino, Tues. eve.

ARREST WEARERS OF SLIT SKIRTS

Chief of Police of Louisville, Ky., Issues Order—Says Women Will Be Brought to Trial

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 27.—Chief of Police Lindsey today issued a blanket order for the immediate arrest of wearers of slit skirts which are minus protecting under garments. "A number of women have been appearing on the streets of Louisville in dresses which the laws of decency forbid and I believe this is without doubt a disorderly act," says the chief's order. "I refer to skirts which are split up the side exposing the leg. As long as an undergarment is worn beneath the slit dresses, all right, but where a flagrant exposure is made it is the duty of the police to make arrests." Chief Lindsey said that women who have the "nerve" to appear on the streets in slit dresses will not mind a little thing like a police court trial.

NOTED MURDERER TO BE DEPORTED

Man Twice Sentenced for Murder in Greece Turned Over by the Local Police to Federal Officials

Pemetrilas Vires of Sparta, who was smuggled into this country, or else came as a stowaway, has been turned over to the officials of the immigration bureau of the federal government to be deported to Greece. His case is one of the most remarkable on record and it is highly creditable to our police department that he was captured here, although he had occupied the police detectives of other cities who were notified of his crimes. Vires has actually been sentenced to the death penalty for two brutal murders in Greece. This man, seems to be one of the worst desperadoes ever known in Greece. In one case when he killed a fellow countryman he was not satisfied with administering the death blow, but further gratified his rage by carving the body up so that identification was almost impossible. But he escaped arrest and, before being tried for the crime in his absence, according to the Greek customs, he was sentenced to death. In another part of Greece still later another charge of murder was preferred against him and although he again escaped, he was tried and on evidence that seemed satisfactory to the court, was convicted and sentenced to death for the second time. This, to be sure, is a most unusual case, but to make it more strange, after the man had been twice sentenced to death while still at large, he robbed a Greek priest, for which crime he was sentenced to 20 years penal servitude. Evidently the Greek authorities are better at pronouncing sentence than at catching prisoners. But remained for a Greek officer, Patrolman Regis, under the direction of Supt. Welch, to capture this desperado and rid the community of his presence. While here he was sentenced to four months in jail for assault, but appealed and got off with a fine of $25. It is understood that he was about to be married when arrested. It is fortunate that he has been sent out of the city for he would probably have committed murder again had he remained here. The Greek government has set a price on his body, dead or alive, and if any reward is coming, it will come to the Lowell officer who made the arrest. It is now a question whether the Greek government will have him serve the twenty years before inflicting the death penalty.

ACT ON JOHNSON CASE

May be Extradited When He Lands

WASHINGTON, June 28.—With all hope abandoned of securing the deportation of Jack Johnson from Canada, officials of the departments of state and justice today began an examination of extradition treaties with European countries to determine whether the negro can be extradited when he lands in Europe. His destination is to be France.

No conclusion has yet been reached as to whether he can be extradited from European countries he may visit. It was made clear, however, that if he could be extradited immediately steps would be taken. Johnson is out on bail on a sentence of one year for conviction under the white slave law.

STOLE CLOTH FROM LOCAL MILLS

Two Men Were Found Guilty and Ordered to Pay Fines—Other Cases Disposed of

Major Noyes and Officer Travalario were responsible for the appearance in the court of the two most important defendants in this morning. George Karapanos was charged with larceny of cloth from the Merrimack mills and also with receiving stolen goods and Joseph Super was charged with the larceny of cloth from the Massachusetts mills. Super's case was disposed of first. He pleaded guilty to the charge. Major Noyes, the corporation's representative, asked that a sentence be imposed upon the defendant to serve as a lesson to others who were in a trustworthy position. Super was fined $10. John J. McEvoy, Esq., pleaded not guilty for his client when Karapanos' case was called for trial. The prosecution placed the two officers upon the stand and Superintendent Welch examined them at length. Designer Ernest Nelson of the Merrimack mills testified to the cloth being a pattern which had only been manufactured since January 3rd of this year. This refuted the claim made by the defendant's attorney that the defendant was not the man who took the cloth but that it had been left there by the man who formerly occupied the room but who had left it before the first of the year. The evidence was so strongly against the defendant that he pleaded guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $2. In the second complaint charging him with receiving stolen property, Judge Knight did not consider the evidence against him of sufficient weight to justify him in imposing a sentence and ordered the man discharged. Anne Fontaine was given a sentence of five months in jail for drunkenness. She has been given several chances for reformation by the local court but has not profited by them. Timothy McCarthy was given an opportunity to pay his fine of $15 by having the sentence suspended for one month. William J. Stockley, Thomas McCann and James J. Kennedy were all fined $2 for their second appearance for drunkenness.

ENFORCE TRAFFIC RULES HOME RULE FOR IRELAND

New Sign "Keep to Right" The Cabinet is All Right,
at Merrimack Sq. Despite Rumors

A nice new red sign on a pretty little stand now adorns the center of Merrimack square as an aide de camp of the traffic policeman. The sign bears the inscription: "Keep to the right; go slow," and is meant to attract the notice of auto drivers and drivers of other vehicles. Considerable difficulty has been experienced by the members of the traffic squad at the square because of the fact that the drivers of the vehicles are not easily submissive to new conditions and having been accustomed to turning in whatever manner they pleased, the new regulations are a novelty. The pretty little sign and the attractive stand is placed in such a manner that the carriages and autos driving around it will keep on their respective sides of the road in turning the corners. At the square, the streets extending four ways make the traffic very lively and difficult to handle.

Similar signs of the same attention-demanding red are located at Tower's corner and also at the corner of Central and Merrimack streets. This morning several autoists attempted to pass on the left of these and were duly ordered to back up and turn to the right by the blue coated custodian of the public safety, the same persons of authority being sure to be found not far from the little red signs. One driver at Tower's corner paused on the left of the sign to read its inscription. He was allowed to do so by the officer who as soon as the man had completed his perusal, gave him a practical demonstration of what the words signified.

The new signs will furnish interest to many for some time, for the novelty will not wear off at once. They have been openly admired by passersby.

B.P.O. ELKS AND K. OF C. LEADERS

In Library Contest, Class Two—
St. Patrick's Church Leads in Class Three

Well The P. B. O. Elks advance to the forefront this week in class two with a handsome vote of 59,267 and it has taken earnest, persistent work no doubt to do this. Several merchants have a lot of votes showing in the ballot, but the Elks were not contented with this, but will poke their noses in next Saturday's returns, we hope.

Tabulating today's vote was a big task. Just pause and contemplate, a constant writing 270 votes the first publication, 7550 the second and 69,263 the third, and you have before you the work accomplished by the hustlers working for the antler boys. They don't carry away the barrels by any means, for there is a long string of aspirants that has done proportionately as well, but this mention is made in view of the lead held today by the enthusiastic band of workers in behalf of this worthy contestant in class two.

There are scores of contestants that deserve similar eulogy if there were space to do so. When you glance down the list of names you are struck by the fact that the community is punctiliously demanding the much-coveted library voting tickets with the ever-increasing numbers.

The Knights of Columbus are second in the race to class two with a splendid vote of 54,035. A little systematic work the coming week may bring them to the top.

There is a systematic canvass going on among the many competing groups. St. Peter's and St. Michael's schools, and Sacred Heart church. Each of them feels that if they do not win the library it will not be because they failed to exhaust every fair means to do so. All the Elks voters are worthy rivals and in popular favor with a large constituency, and it is a case of "nip and tuck" in the vote-getting business, and certainly a very close and exciting race.

The Y. M. C. A. St. John's hospital and Lowell High school loom up on the horizon of probabilities and notable gain was made by the Y. M. C. A. and the Fraternal Order of Eagles, which menagerie of the work and rest serenely in first position in class three with a fine total of 90,593 votes.

The Glenmore club forcefully demonstrate the fact that weight as a contestant for library vote is not measured by numbers. Very often a little man with big spunk can master in physical and mental combat the big fellow without this essential virtue, and these workers are due to make their presence felt in the big contest because the spirit to do so and do well prevails. There is a systematic canvass going on and should they fail to win the first prize it will not be because they did not exhaust every fair means to do so.

Pupils Should Form Committees
The schools that are out after the libraries should have committees to look after their interests, as have the many clubs and societies competing. Much more can be accomplished with this plan in effect, and any pupil who reads this can take the matter in hand, call his fellow pupils together and form a committee.

The Lowell High school, in the opinion of the writer, would very likely be up close to the leader today if the full reports from the stores, which are their strongholds, were in hand. They are showing improvement all along the line.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians occupies a prominent place in class two this week. Their work is indeed commendable and is becoming more universal as each week goes by. These voters are alive to the great importance of the label redemption features and are accumulating them in a systematic fashion. The same may be said of the Highland grammar school. This is the right route to success and we look for these contestants to prove formidable adversaries in the battle for good books.

Every gun the above school could muster seemed to be loaded to the muzzle last week and their accomplishments are admirable. Remember that the Harvard Brewing Company's bottle caps will be redeemable only at one vote each and that the cork inside the cap must absolutely bear a clean and fresh appearance or it will not be redeemable at all.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Recommendation that an educational "trust" be launched through the consolidation of many of the smaller colleges and state institutions in the interests of efficiency is made by Dr. K. C. Babcock of the United States bureau of education. In a statement issued by the bureau today calling attention to Dr.
Babcock's plan it is contended that the chief inefficiency lies with the state colleges and educational institutions.

Dr. Babcock contends in the yearbook of the commissioner of education that there are too many colleges inefficiently equipped and that needless expense in duplication of work is evident everywhere. He believes the solution of this situation lies in the merging of many institutions, especially those now attempting to teach advanced or specializing courses.

HORSEBACK RIDER THROWN

Accident in Merrimack Street Today
—Young Man Had Narrow Escape
From Injury

A young man whose name could not be learned had a very narrow escape from serious injury when he was thrown off a horse at the corner of Cabot and Merrimack streets this forenoon. He was coming down
Merrimack street toward city hall on horseback, and was driving very fast. Upon reaching the corner of Cabot street, he turned his horse into the latter street and the animal slipped on the smooth pavement and fell to the ground.

The boy was thrown several feet
further. Patrolman Elie Braault went to his assistance, but before he reached his side, the boy was on his feet again and quickly grabbed his horse by the head. The young man was none the worse for his fall, but the horse was badly scratched on the legs.

BASEBALL AND FIELD SPORTS

THE SUN SPORTING PAGE

AND ATHLETICS

Live Bits of Sport

The champions double win yesterday puts them up in fourth place again with only a few games difference between them and second place. That Athletic club is a long ways off, however, and even if their pitching staff has gone bad it will take some sprinting to catch them. In the other race the Glens are now well within striking distance of the flag and are playing a much stronger game than Phillips.

Eddie Cawley has signed a contract with Connie Mack's Athletics and will probably join them next Thursday in Boston. Cawley graduated from high school this week and now is all ready to break into the professional baseball ranks.

Billy Mulvey has been offered a bout on the Fourth with his old rival, Young Williams of Lawrence, but as he has refused to accept it on account of poor condition Tom Larrabee of Lewiston will probably meet the Lawrence boy at Spaulding park on this date. Tommy McFarland of Boston will also be used by the Triangle A. A. at their opening entertainment.

If Lowell can show the brand of ball that they exhibited yesterday for the remainder of the season everybody will be happy. The same may be said of the pitching. Zeiser pitched a remarkably heavy game as well as having everything that a pitcher can have. His twirling yesterday was as good as his league work.

The New England All Around Championships which will be held late this afternoon on Tech field will bring out the greatest bunch of athletes who ever competed in the scheduled list of events. Tabor, Drew, Redlund, Robinson and Halpin are names which are sure to draw out a large attendance at the games.

Gunboat Smith was again returned the winner over the Boer, Rodet, last night in their scheduled bout of ten rounds at the Madison Square gardens. Smith floored Rodet in the third round with a right hand swing behind the ear and he lay face downward on the canvas. Referee John, thinking Rodet knocked cold, waved Smith to his corner without counting the fatal ten. Rodet, however, staggered to his feet, and violently protested the decision.

Here is how they do things in Paris when they do not agree with a referee's decision. Frank Mandole, an American, and Albert Boudou, a Swiss fighter, fought 20 hard rounds with the American having all the advantage. Mandole knocked his opponent down three times and had him hanging on in the last two rounds. The referee declared the bout a draw and the crowd immediately poured into the ring and pulled the decision maker over the ropes. He was pretty well mauled before the police were able to rescue him from the angry fans. Lawrence has one feature in common with Paris anyway.

Manager Birmingham of Cleveland has announced that he may retire the great Napoleon Lajoie as regular second baseman. Turner has been named as the man to succeed him. Lajoie has been one of the greatest men in baseball but his sun is fast sinking. If the big Frenchman does not improve on his hitting within a short time the change is certain to go into effect.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

Woodman had the Indian sign on DeGroat all right. All that he threw him was a high inshoot, but Rube couldn't seem to connect with it. Three strikeouts in one game is some record.

Umpire White seemed to think it was not yesterday. With his sleeves rolled up and his arms unburned to his elbows, he announced his decisions in good style. Once, however, he converted a poor ball into a strike for Woodman, but even matters up on the next ball by calling it a strike.

In the fourth inning McGovern got up a great head of steam running to first after bashing down a grounder to Aubrey. Fast fielding sent the ball to first baseman, however, but McGovern was going so fast that when he slid into the bag both he and Halstein toppled over. Luckily neither was hurt.

DeGroat may not be fast, but he has one big asset, in his base running he spraddles a lot of territory. In the fourth inning yesterday when Rube stole second Weeden's throw struck him full in the back. The ball bounced 20 feet into the field.

Umpire White was minus his spiked shoes yesterday. This did not seem to stop him about covering the ground just the same as he was always over any play on the basis. His work on bases was perfect.

Daly certainly used his whip to good advantage. Courtney, Fall River's circle captain and right fielder, had an awful amount of nerve to try and steal a base on the Lowell catcher in the ninth. The ball was waiting for him when he arrived and Miller went to the ground with him to make the put-out certain.

Cahill is a tough man for a pitcher to throw to. He can hit a ball as a rule and knocks off a bunch of foul balls. In the sixth he fouled nine times before he eventually struck out.

Dan Clancy was right at the park, whether he can be with his men or not. Dan occupied the box directly over the Fall River bench and showered all sorts of advice on his players throughout the contest. Dan's expression was not exactly amiable on several occasions.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Savages say that they will take up the challenge issued by the Unions and will play for a purse of $5 and two 25c balls. Moreover, if the Unions refuse, the Savages claim the championship of the state. Get that? These Savages say that they will bring their own "cannons" who is none other than B. Cohen. Just the same, we would hope to see in Mr. Cohen's shoes when he is officiating at this clash. Frank Abbot notifies that his wing is in great shape and that he is sure of winning in spite of his innate modesty, he cannot frown the public into believing that he is not "some" pitcher.

Willers, Savages, and a few others want to know if the Riverside Grays and their new suits have fled to shelter, or if they are afraid of selling those circus clothes.

Have all the amateurs who wish got their names in the paper? We will have room for the amateur baseball.

STOVALL'S DAYS AS MANAGER OF
BROWNS SAID TO BE NUMBERED

An interesting rumor here is that George Stovall's days as the manager of the St. Louis Browns are numbered. The first sweep in the Browns' house-cleaning campaign is said to have taken place when Lloyd Rickart was let out as the club's secretary recently. Rickart was connected with the Browns for several years. Stovall has not made the hit as manager at St. Louis that he did at Cleveland. George's suspension as manager by orders of Ban Johnson for his trouble with Umpire Ferguson early in the season and the fact that his team has lost steadily this year and appears to be getting further in the rut has caused the manager to lose in popularity. It would be no surprise in St. Louis if Stovall should be released as the Browns' manager. This has been a very bad year for baseball in St. Louis. Both of the local clubs have had long losing streaks. Friends of Stovall claim he has not been a failure as a leader and that if he is retained as leader next year he will surely have a first division club. They also add that Stovall is the best leader the Browns have ever had.

McGRAW WILLING TO SPEND $50,000

thinks "Rube" Schauer, the sensational young pitcher of the Superior club of the Northern league, who was bought by the club recently for $10,000, the largest price ever paid for a "Class C" twirler, will develop into a wonder. Schauer celebrated his purchase in his home town the other day by winning a game from "Rube" Waddell, once one of the greatest pitchers in the game, now pitching for the Virginia (Minn.) club. Schauer struck out ten men in seven innings, the game being called on account of darkness.

Johnny McGraw says he has $50,000 to spend for good pitchers. The Giants' peppery little leader declares that there is a scarcity of good slammers, but if there are any lying around loose he wants to grab them. McGraw

RAILROAD ACCIDENTS

In no country in the world is the annual toll of deaths from railroad accidents greater than in America. Each day has its stories of train wrecks which result in fatalities. We read these laconically, regarding them as the natural outcome of our rushing industrialism and inseparable from it. Sometimes, however, the fact that these accidents are more numerous than usual on one railroad or in one particular section of the country makes people take particular notice of conditions and urge them to investigate the reason for the increasing number of fatal accidents. Though these accidents are not all attributable to the same cause or series of causes, it is evident that something is wrong in the American system of railroading, when we reflect that this country, which has the greatest comparative percentage of deaths, has the greatest facilities for the manufacture of all that is most modern and satisfactory in rails and rolling stock, and systems of graduated service in most instances which ought to ensure the best and safest in labor.

In this connection it is interesting to review an article by a noted French scientist, published recently in a Parisian review—La Nature—in which he dwells on a new process of casting steel ingots and accuses American steel-makers of criminal carelessness, laying the responsibility for most of our railroad accidents at their door. In his own words: "It is a common occurrence for a piece of steel of a fine appearance, after having passed through all the classic tests, to break suddenly in normal service. An autopsy is held; then only is the fault discovered; hidden in the depths of the metal it has escaped all exterior investigation. No matter what it is called, most often chance alone may with justice be held responsible for its presence. The piece has been made according to all the rules; thousands of others formed in the same conditions and subjected to the same tests have behaved irreproachably." He claims that the new method of steel casting will eliminate the dangers of accidents from faulty rails, and reduce the annual number of railway accidents to a minimum.

The faults in the steel rails which have resulted in most of our railroad accidents are due to imperfections in the cooling of the rails—according to this authority. The perfected method which would do away with the danger was described by Sir Robert Hadfield, an English metallurgist at the last congress of the Iron and Steel Institute. It consists in heating the metal from above during the cooling of the ingot. By the old method cooling began on all sides of the mould with the result that impurities collected in the centre. Gases generated in the process often collected there also and empty spaces were formed which rendered the rail unsafe. Recognizing this scientific fact, it has always been customary to saw off the upper portion of the ingot before subjecting it to the final processes of manufacture. Owing to the great demand for the output, however, the French scientist claims that this precaution has now been disregarded almost entirely, with the result that railroad accidents have increased to an alarming degree.

In dealing with our "unfortunate record for railway accidents," the writer lays the blame on the railroads and the American steel works in the following strong words:

"Investigations have proved that the fault lies with the very defective rails in use on the other side of the Atlantic. These rails are made with impure ore by the Bessemer process, which eliminates impurities only partially, whereas in Europe the Siemens-Martin process has long been preferred. This, however, is not the primary cause of rail-breakage. In recent years the American steel works overloaded with emergency orders from the railroad companies, to depart from the country, to the detriment of the quality of the product. They have stopped rejecting the whole upper third of the ingots and have only cut away a much smaller portion. Hundreds of travelers have paid for this wild economy with their lives."

CASE NOT CLOSED

There have been statements from all the principals in the widely discussed Diego-Caminetti case, but it is very evident that it is not yet regarded as a dead incident. Apart from the vigorous attack which Republican Leader Mann made in the house, in which he did not spare President Wilson or Attorney-General McKeen, the press is still full of contrary opinions on the subject, and elements have crept in which have no direct bearing on the case. The general opinion is that the administration has been confronted by a very delicate situation which was prevented from becoming most serious only by the prompt action of the president. That he is not, however, regarded as entirely blameless is evident, though a dispassionate study of the facts will fail to reveal in what he was blameworthy. He had no direct connection with the controversy; he accepted the resignation of a man who, though possibly right, could not act further on the case in his official capacity, owing to his open declaration; he ordered the prompt trial of the white slave charges. He did all that anyone could do, who had to accept the facts on the face of the matter and was constrained to act without bias or prejudice.

It must also be said in justice to the attorney-general that if he erred in judgment he erred in a negative rather than a positive sense. Even the violent accusations of Leader Mann do not convict him. Secretary Wilson telephoned him to order a certain case postponed because the father of one of the principals was unable to be present. Without going deeply into the matter he so ordered the postponement. There is nothing seriously wrong in this. But when it is discovered that the offence was a particularly flagrant one under the Mann white slave act, and when it was further discovered that the petitioning father was an official of the government, the confused situation took on aspects which were very welcome to those who wish to discredit the administration and who up to the present time have had nothing tangible on which to base charges. Except from a prejudiced point of view there is little in the case which justifies a very strong accusation against either the president or the attorney-general, and no one can say justly that there has been any attempt at Washington to cover up the official acts of any individual in connection with the matter. There is no doubt that public sympathy is with McKeen, but his resignation under the circumstances was necessary. Having taken an open stand against the attorney-general he could not have upheld the federal end of the case. He could have been retained only by the displacement of the attorney-general, and the most violent enemy of the latter will not affirm that the charge calls for the adoption of the latter course.

The elder Caminetti has great reason to regret his demand for postponement because it is evident that whatever leniency would have been shown by the public before the present misunderstanding, the people will now watch the proceedings closely and demand the fullest infliction of the law. The brunt of the blame may be laid on the father in the last analysis, but when there is a struggle in the weak human heart between duty and affection, it is easy to pardon a slight weakness. Not all the world has praised the action of Judge Lynch of Galway, who hanged his son in the olden days rather than sacrifice his patriotic principles.

THE GRADUATES

The local high school has graduated 211 pupils. Some of them will begin the active struggle of existence and others will go still higher in education. But even those who are fortunate enough to enter college realize at last that school work is not an end in itself and that the real purposes of existence are to follow. Life and time are theirs. The world is before them. They graduate, indeed, but their work is only commencing. All men graduate and for every one of them who steps into the arena of life, somebody steps out into the darkness to make room. The earth belongs to the young, and theirs are the tasks which will speak for progression in all the arts and sciences and the ideal conditions towards which the wobbling old world is speeding in its uncertain way.

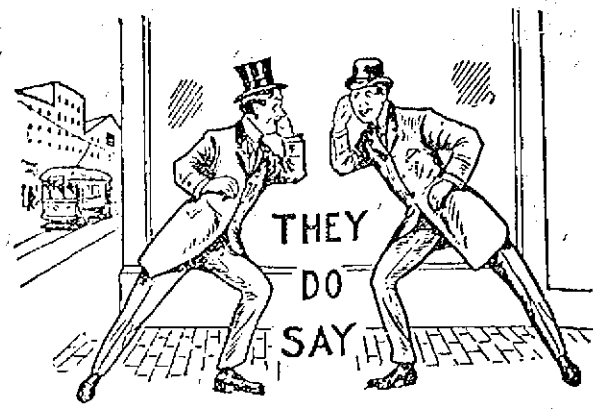

"The child is father of the man," was once held to be true in its figurative sense, but it is now being held as almost true in its literal sense. Oscar Wilde created a sensation by declaring that nothing hindered progression more than the old theory that the young should learn from the old. He said that the old should learn from the young. We see the invention of the automobile or the airplane and we wonder, scarcely believing the evidence of our senses, but the children who will be born tomorrow will accept these things as accomplished facts and seek for still greater marvels. The graduate is rising today and by all means let us raise our hats to him and cheer him on while he is yet filled with the enthusiasm born of youth and the ignorance of the cruel old world with its crosses, its ruined castles, and its ruined hopes. We will, however, remind the Lowell graduates of the words of Dr. Mullin and the local superintendent of schools when they requested them to remember always that their training was not meant to make them succeed in the social world or the world of business merely, but was meant to make them noble men and women. May they achieve this worthy end.

Vaccination

Brookline Enterprise: An interesting contribution to the arguments which ever prevail as to whether vaccination is or is not useful is furnished in the smallpox situation at Lowell. It is said in that city that the now numerous list of the afflicted in Lowell are people who have been without the protection of vaccine. Of course it may have merely happened that way, and of course it is not a certain argument that vaccination does prevent the disease from getting a foothold. Still the average man, as he contemplates this statement, made on the authority of a Lowell newspaper, that undoubtedly gets its information from the health authorities, would probably prefer to be vaccinated than not if he got word that the disease was on its way and likely to hit his section of the world.

Worcester Post: It is something quite new since the days of imperialism that Secretary Garrison has telegraphed to Gen. Sundry Civil Bill
